COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

A special town meeting will be held on September 20th at 8 p. m. in Odeon Hall. There are six articles in the warrant, a copy of which appears elsewhere in this paper. Articles 2 and 3 have to do with changing the Zoning on Bridge Street. Currently there is an area 200 feet in width on each side of U. S. 2 between the railroad bridge and Androscoggin River that is zoned residential. At a public hearing held on Aug. 30th the residents of this area are agreeable to changing it from residential to commercial, except that part owned by Hanover Dowel Co. which would be zoned industrial. Also width back from U. S. 2 would be increased from 200 feet to 400 feet.

Article 4 would increase the membership of the school committee from three to five members. There has been some interest in doing this for several years, but heretofore it required special action of the Legislature. This past winter the Legislature passed a bill permitting any municipality to make the change by simply placing an article in the warrant for consideration.

Article 5 is placed in the warrant at the request of the school department, requesting additional funds to be expended at the East Bethuel school to finish the project of providing an adequate water supply.

Article 6 provides for the office of Fire Ward to be placed on the annual town meeting ballot. The Fire Ward by virtue of the office is also fire inspector which would give him authority to enforce fire regulations and make necessary inspections where required. The logical person to fill the position would be the Fire Chief.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

FORD TIMES ART EXHIBIT AT GOULD TWO WEEKS

A Ford Times art exhibit will be on display at Gould Academy from Sept. 15 to Sept. 30.

The collection is one of the traveling exhibitions from the collection of American Art compiled over a period of years by the editors of Ford Times, a Ford Motor Co. publication sent to motorists throughout the country each month.

The exhibit for the Academy is called "Watercolors and Serigraphs." It includes ten serigraphs (ink screen paintings) and three watercolors by John Clift, Charles Harper, and Harvey Pell. This small group of artists contrasts and parallels in the two media.

The traveling art exhibitions are made available by Ford Motor Co. to schools and universities, libraries and art organizations throughout the country.

Source of these exhibitions is the Ford Times Collection of American Art which has been assembled from work commissioned for Ford publications. The collection includes more than 6,500 published paintings, as well as about 750 which have not yet been published.

SUNDAY RIVER SKI SCHOOL HEAD RESIGNS

At a meeting of the directors of the Sunday River Skiway Corporation this week, the resignation of Nils Torjesen, director of the Sunday River Ski School, was accepted. Mr. Torjesen, who has headed the ski school since the area opened in 1959, will return to Canada and continue his teaching there.

A native of Norway, Mr. Torjesen once helped to found the national ski association of that country. An active anti-Nazi during the German occupation of Norway, he traveled widely after the war in Europe and Africa, finally returning to his native land as an active ski racer and instructor. He traveled to Canada several years ago and served as ski instructor in Ste. Adele, Quebec.

Certified by the Eastern Amateur Ski Association, he became widely known in New England skiing circles for his success with a modified Swiss-Austrian technique which emphasized the comma position and reverse shoulder approach to parallel skiing.

Sunday River Skiway is currently seeking a qualified instructor to direct the area's ski school.

DINNER MEETING TONIGHT TO START HOSPITAL BUILDING FUND CAMPAIGN

Plans for the expansion and modernization of Rumford Community Hospital will be outlined tonight for more than 200 members of the "hospital family" and representative citizens from the towns it serves. The dinner meeting, which will launch an area-wide building fund campaign to help finance construction, is scheduled for 6:30 p. m. at the Rumford State Armory.

The building fund steering committee, which was formed several weeks ago to plan the campaign, has also announced that Charles L. Ferguson, president of the hospital, has been elected chairman of the building fund. Names of the various committee chairmen will be announced tonight.

Participating in the speaking program at the meeting will be Theodore F. Spear, administrator of the hospital, who will explain the present needs of the hospital and will describe the building plans designed to meet those needs. Dr. James A. MacDougall, chief of the medical staff, will comment on the project from the physician's point of view.

The present Rumford Community Hospital opened its doors on November 1, 1926. Construction was financed by a building fund campaign which exceeded its $200,000 goal by more than $55,000.

The hospital was designed to accommodate 54 patients, but demands for care have made it necessary to set up 64 beds in the same space. There has been no major construction project at the hospital since it opened 35 years ago.

Fully accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation, the hospital is a member of both the American Hospital Association and the Maine Hospital Association. It is chartered by the State of Maine as a voluntary, nonprofit corporation.

Survey of Local Pupils

Miss Dorothy Bryant, R. D. H., of the Division of Dental Health, State of Maine Department of Health and Welfare, was a visitor at the first fall meeting of the Dental Health Committee of the Bethel Health and Service Council, coming to Bethel with Miss Bryant was a member of the dental hygienist staff, Miss Marjorie Linscott.

The meeting was held at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Samuel Timberlake, Tuesday evening, and was largely attended by representatives from the Council Area. While many new members were greeted, it is hoped to have additional representation from the sections not yet reached.

The agenda was given over to preparing for a survey of the dental health of the school children of Grades 2, 5, and 8. These grades have been selected as a sampling as they most nearly coincide with the age levels at which new teeth are erupting. This survey will serve as an educational project with the children, as well as providing useful data for local planning and reference.

Others present at this meeting were Mrs. Dexter Stowell, Mrs. Avery Angevine, Mrs. Dan Manson, Mrs. Wesley Bennoch, Mrs. Lincoln Fiske, Mrs. Clayton Crockett, Mrs. Lawrence Young, Miss Eva Bedn, Mrs. Irving Blowers, Mrs. Dana Douglas, Mrs. Vance Richardson, Mrs. Jay Willard, Miss Helen Varner, Mrs. Laura Day, Miss Velma Spencer, Mrs. Norris Brown, Eric Sahlborg, Dr. John Young, and Dr. John Trinward.

THE AMERICAN WAY THE "AMERICAN WAY" GREAT TASK

By Rosalie M. Gordon

Editor's Note: Rosalie M. Gordon is editor of ALL-AMERICAN PEOPLE, ALL-AMERICAN BOOKS, and AMERICAN PEOPLE.

We use the phrases "the American System" and "the American Way of Life" so frequently and freely that it is possible to lose sight of what they mean. It is a good idea to stop every once in a while and give some real thought to the real meaning of "the American Way." It happens to be a unique form of organized life and government. We will protect and preserve it only if we understand it.

At the very heart of the American System is, or was, respect for the individual human being. He was endowed by God with the right to live his own life in his own way, so long as he did not interfere with the same right on the part of others. Government, under the American System, was set up to protect the individual in his "unalienable rights"—to protect him in his freedom; HE was not made to be an instrument of government direction, action and plans.

A system that embodied the idea that government was the creature, not the master of the people existed nowhere else in the world. The idea of government in most other places was, and still is, that it is a great super-manager which tells the people where and how to work, when and how to spend their earnings, what and when to plant on their farms. Under such governments, people are so many moving parts under direct or indirect control of a central master—a Big Government which is the super boss as well as the policeman of everybody, directing and ordering them around.

It is under such governments that people give up their freedom in return for an ephemeral promise of food and lodging and something called "security." And loss of freedom can occur even in a democratic society which turns to Big Government. The people still elect their governments, but not as their servants. They simply make a choice of one master or another.

That could not happen under the true American system. This is what made that system—which existed here from the time of the American Rev-

Bethel Red Sox Team, Oxford County Little League Champions. Front row: Eddie Deegan, Robert Baker, Mark Hutchins, Capt. Mike Chretien, Jerry Nowlin, Craig Boyd, Robert Gilbert, Larry Smith. olution until about 27 years ago—unique in the world. We called it the American Republic, under which Big Government was impossible. In reality, there were 61 American Republics—60 sovereign states and one "central" federal republic. Thus there was no government

anywhere big enough to dominate us. Most governmental power was in the states. Practically all the services which the people got from government they got from the states, and from cities and towns which were part of the states, under laws made by the states and taxes collected by the states and local units.

The principal purpose of the federal government was to see that the states did not overstep their power and violate our rights. In addition, the national government was to operate a postal business, maintain armed forces to defend us, and conduct our affairs with foreign governments. It had no right to fool with, or interfere in the internal affairs of the states and their citizens. And thus we were free, if we did not like the way things were run in one state, to pick up and move to another.

In putting together this system, the Founders of the American Republic knew exactly what they were doing. Their purpose was to provide a government that would give the people the essential services, protect them in their fundamental rights and, above all, insure their freedom—so that the energies, talents, and special capacities of every man would be released to create, to build, and to enjoy the fruits of his intelligence, his striving and his labor. And that is why we became the freest, the most abundant nation in history—and a shining example to all government-dominated peoples.

That was "the American Way" which we have been losing gradually over the past three decades. We have not been going forward, but backward—back to the re-creation of Big Government through a series of invasions and usurpations. The federal octopus in Washington now takes any where from 20 to 31 cents of every dollar every man earns. It has burdened us with a crushing debt. It tells every business how it shall be run and inches its way actually into the management and even ownership of industry. It rides roughshod over the rights of our 60 sovereign republics—the states. And it is all done under beautiful labels like "New Deal," "New Frontier," "liberalism." But it is neither new nor real liberalism. It is a retreat to Big Government—the curse of the world through all ages. The greatest task before us is the restoration of the American System—the American Republic.

Thursday, September 14
Read Luke 18:1-8

I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. (Luke 11:9)

The man who is satisfied with his life and the world about him rarely prays. But when adversity overtakes him, in his extremity he turns to the Lord, who is standing at the door of every heart. He will hear the cry of this penitent soul. When the door is opened the life of the penitent man will be flooded with light.

Prayer takes man's fear and replaces it with confidence. Fuller life thus comes, for by prayer we can re-establish a lost communion with God.

From a missionary, threatened by death in China, prayer removed a terrible fear and helplessness. Despair was replaced by a calm peacefulness.

He said afterwards: "My own will had failed in the most critical moment of my life. But knowledge that I could depend on a power greater than my own sustained me in a wonderful way."

He rapidly outdistanced his fears and gained his former sense of hope.

PRAYER: O God, we are conscious of our own inadequacy, especially in the face of trouble. We pray that at such times Thy presence may be very real in our lives. Shine the light of truth into our darkened lives so that we may have complete assurance; through Christ our Lord, Amen.

Thought For The Day
Our lives are incomplete unless we are in constant communion with God.

SEPTEMBER

Summer begins to wear thin and now comes the time of brooding blue and gold days. Shaggy clouds wander haphazardly across the sky and a purple haze covers upland heights and mountain shoulders.

Nights are cool and invigorating. One of these mornings grey frost will powder the lowlands and when a man walks his garden in mid-forenoon, the limp leaves of squashes, melons and tomatoes will announce the end of a gardening season.

Autumn stretches its long arm and gently but authoritatively taps Summer on the shoulder. It is time to move along to another season. You know it from the blue asters' faces that match the blue of the sky; you know it from the glow of goldenrod that reflects the gold of the sun.

Color changes come to the countryside, and the scarlet of woodbine and the wine-red of sumac candles are signs of the approaching equinox. Corn shocks march across the fields and piles of golden pumpkins are heaped against the south-sides of weathered barns.

September is a month of good flavor. You smell the ripening apples and the frosted wild grapes, and the fragrance of rich garden soil is pleasantly pungent in the nostrils. Wildlife is ready for the cold months and each day flocks of birds wing through on the way to the southland.

The sun sinks nearly west these days and hours of light and hours of darkness are about equal. Year is sliding down the slope to the nadir, but for many the weeks just ahead are the best part of the year. As one savors their goodness, he can store a harvest in the heart to help carry him through the time of cold and ice.

The Mt. Abram Ski Slopes, where the new ski line shows this season's additions. This year two T-bar lifts will be the new 3360 foot lift connects available. A 1000 foot lift to 3400 foot, three-quarter and reaches the novice slope, while mile slopes.

Sometimes you have to hurry. What do you want, officer? I didn't mean it. Where are you taking me? Please, No, doctor. No!

WCS TO PRESENT BIBLICAL AUTHOR

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Bethel Methodist Church is presenting Dorothy Clarke Wilson, author of a number of Biblical novels, on Wednesday, September 20, at 8:00 p. m., in the Methodist Church. Mrs. Wilson is to review her latest book, "Dr. Ida." An invitation is extended to all interested women. Dorothy Clark Wilson has been writing since the age of ten, and has subsequently written many novels and numerous religious plays.

On a recent trip to India she gathered material for her "Dr. Ida," an inspiring story of Dr. Ida Scudder, fifty years a medical missionary in India. This book interprets the life of a remarkable and deeply dedicated American woman against the background of India's colorful and rapidly changing society.

CENTURY OLD HOUSE IN ALBANY RAZED SEEK FURTHER HISTORY

Albany has lost one of its old landmarks in the removal of the large old house at the four corners, opposite the Town House. No one seems to know in what year it was built, but it is thought by 1850 or before.

It is said the upstairs was once used as a dance hall, but after it was bought by Mr. and Mrs. George Grover, they finished it off into living quarters and put in a store on the lower floor.

In 1910 or before Mr. and Mrs. James Gupit and Miss Flossie Miller lived there and continued the store. Later Mr. and Mrs. Ada Keniston and family made their home there for awhile.

When Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Bruce lost their home and all possessions by fire in about 1920, they moved in, and later reopened the store which they continued to operate for a number of years, selling everything from candy and groceries to grain, gas, and oil. After Mrs. Bruce's death in 1931, Mr. Bruce discontinued the store, but lived there until his death in 1950.

Among the earlier families who made their home there, were Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Bean and children, Belle, Cora, Stella, Ada, Sumner, Arthur, and Ernest; a family of Wheelers; also Mr. and Mrs. Luke Johnson.

If anyone can add to the history of this old building, by whom it was built, and the families who formerly lived there, we would be very much interested in hearing from them.

"It's a good idea to be wiser than the people with whom you associate. Just don't tell them about it."—Executive's Digest.

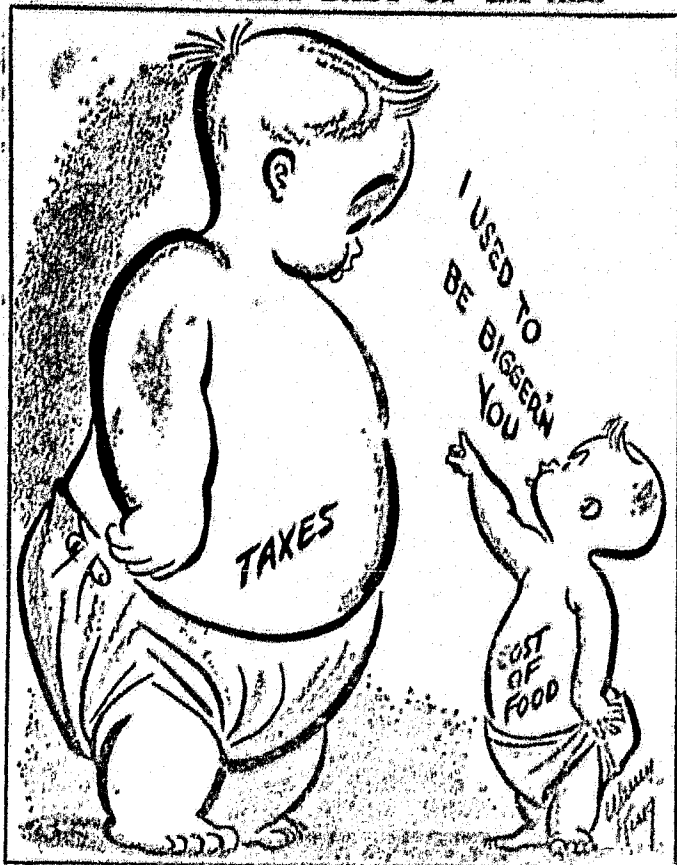

"Business willingly accepts its legitimate obligations to the community, to employees, and the nation. It is often overlooked, though, that all the obligations cannot be on the side of business. Obligations are a two-way street."—The Spindle, publication of Whitin Machine Works, Whitinsville, Mass.

Maine Tree Farms Fulfill Multiple Benefits of Private Forests

TREE FARMS owned by Maine's forest-based industries and other private landowners make a major contribution to the long-term recreation needs of the Pine Tree State, says the Maine Committee of American Forest Products Industries, sponsor of the voluntary American Tree Farm System. Tree Farming, says the committee, not only provides wood for thousands of useful products, but it gives permanence to related benefits of recreation, wildlife, water supply, soil erosion control and payrolls.

HEART ASSN. WARNS OF "STREP" INFECTION AND RHEUMATIC FEVER

With the opening of a new school year, the Maine Heart Association warns parents to be on guard against "strep" throat and scarlet fever, two streptococcal infections that may be followed by rheumatic fever. The Association states that rheumatic fever causes more long time crippling illness in children than any other disease. It particularly attacks children of school age.

In its new booklet, "How You Can Protect Your Child Against Rheumatic Fever," the Maine Heart Association offers a seven point chart as a guide to when to call a doctor and what information to give him.

The booklet lists the seven questions as follows: (1) Did the sore throat come on suddenly? (2) Does your young-ster complain that his throat hurts most when he swallows? (3) Does it hurt him under the angle of his jaw when you press gently with your fingers? (4) Are glands of his neck swollen? (5) Does he have a fever? How much? (Usually strep infection brings on a fever of between 101 and 104 degrees.) (6) Does your child complain of headache? It is nauseated? Has he vomited? And in conclusion, (7) Has he been in contact with anyone who has had scarlet fever or a sore throat. (Any child who has been exposed to scarlet fever should see his doctor for preventative treatment even though he does not have a sore throat.) The booklet states that the above signs and symptoms help your doctor decide if he should examine your child for a strep infection and that prompt treatment of this infection usually prevents rheumatic fever. The booklet may be obtained free of charge from the Maine Heart Assoc., 110 State St., Augusta, Maine.

The most hope lies in the most hopeless

Today leukemia is a hopeless form of cancer. But by one of science's strange paradoxes, leukemia research may bring the first breakthrough in the control of all cancer!

There is an undercurrent of excitement in the nation's cancer research laboratories. Suddenly, a new word appears in the leukemia story. The word is hope.

New drugs are already in use, prolonging the lives of leukemia victims. Leukemia induced in laboratory animals has been cured.

Most important, there is growing evidence that leukemia—one of the foremost disease-killers of children—may be caused by a virus. Why is this so important? Because it presents hope for the discovery of a leukemia vaccine—which might someday be the breakthrough leading to the control of all cancers.

The American Cancer Society is now giving one out of every six of its research dollars to leukemia-related research.

Your gift to the American Cancer Society makes this support possible. Your gift helps keep alive that giant word—hope.

The most hope lies in the most hopeless

Today leukemia is a hopeless form of cancer. But by one of science's strange paradoxes, leukemia research may bring the first breakthrough in the control of all cancer!

There is an undercurrent of excitement in the nation's cancer research laboratories. Suddenly, a new word appears in the leukemia story. The word is hope.

New drugs are already in use, prolonging the lives of leukemia victims. Leukemia induced in laboratory animals has been cured.

Most important, there is growing evidence that leukemia—one of the foremost disease-killers of children—may be caused by a virus. Why is this so important? Because it presents hope for the discovery of a leukemia vaccine—which might someday be the breakthrough leading to the control of all cancers.

The American Cancer Society is now giving one out of every six of its research dollars to leukemia-related research.
